ABSTRACT

The present disclosure provides methods of treating diuretic resistance by administering an IL-6 antagonist to patients who require diuresis. In typical embodiments, the patient has heart failure. Optionally, the patient has elevated urine levels of IL-6, plasma levels of IL-6, or both urine and plasma levels of IL-6.

[FIG. 1B]