

Title of Invention: Loan Eligibility Review and Contract Preparation System Using Mobile Terminal

Abstract

- 5 A loan eligibility review and contract preparation system using mobile terminal includes a user terminal (100) to which a web application is installed to transmit documents required for loan eligibility review in the form of the image, receive the loan contract form transmitted from a financial institution, fill out and sign the form in the user's own writing on the screen for the corresponding field, and return the form to the financial institution; and the financial institution's computer server (200) which reviews the documents required for loan
- 10 received from the user terminal (100) above to determine loan eligibility, transmit the loan contract form to the person eligible for loan, receives and saves the loan contract written and signed in the user's own writing from the user terminal (100) above.

FIG. 1