(54) Title: DISTRIBUTION OF DIGITAL CONTENT IN MOBILE COMPUTING ENVIRONMENTS

(57) Abstract: A computing system for sending digital content in a mobile computing environment is disclose. The computing system allows a sender to create or import the digital content within a mobile computing environment that is loaded on his machine. The sender can also further configure the computing environment, as well as specify usage control requirements. The computing environment is then saved as image data and transferred to the recipient, who can open the digital content only within the mobile computing environment that is reconstructed on the recipient's machine.
