

Abstract

An aerated food product comprising hydrophobin and a surfactant is provided, the aerated food product containing a population of gas bubbles, wherein at least 65%
5 of the gas bubbles have a diameter of less than 20µm. Processes for producing such an aerated food product are also provided.