

Abstract

Improved industrial apparatus for the large-scale storage of electric energy

The invention relates to an improved industrial apparatus for the large-scale storage of energy and a process for storing and transporting electric energy by means of this apparatus.

Figure 1