

ABSTRACT

A problem of the present invention is to provide a novel composition for anti-aging. The means for solving the problem is to use one or multiple compounds such as a lophenol compound, and a cyclolanostane compound as active ingredients of the composition for anti-aging.