ABSTRACT

CARDIAC TISSUE-DERIVED CELLS

The present invention is directed to methods and compositions for repairing damaged myocardium using human cardiac tissue-derived cells. In particular, the present invention provides methods and compositions for repairing damaged myocardium using expanded human cardiac tissue-derived cells that do not express telomerase.

Fig. 1

Figure 1

