

RECORDING MEDIUM, PLAYBACK METHOD, AND PLAYBACK DEVICE

ABSTRACT

Recorded in a recording medium is a video stream, map information, and bitrate information of the video stream. The map information includes size information indicating data size of a section where a picture is recorded in the video stream, based on a predetermined stipulated data size. The stipulated data size differs in accordance with the bitrate information.

[Figure 33]