

TEA BEVERAGE

ABSTRACT

An object of the present invention is to provide a tea beverage which is perceived to have sugar-like sweetness.

In a tea beverage, an amino acid or a polymeric polyphenol, and at least one selected from the group consisting of furaneol, sotolon, cyclotene, vanillin, and maltol, are incorporated, and the content of furaneol, sotolon, cyclotene, vanillin, or maltol is adjusted to a specified value.