

Abstract

Provided is a method of producing a processed food, the method including (a) adding a food composition having xanthine oxidase activity to a raw material containing purines.