

ABSTRACT

CONTAINER WITH A FITMENT

A product (10,110,210) including a container (12,112) including a neck (24,124), and a fitment (14,114,214) having a portion coupled to the neck of the container via an interference fit. A method of producing said product to render it tamper-evident, and a method of inserting the fitment into the neck of the container that includes the step of providing the fitment at a lower temperature than that of the container before inserting the fitment into the neck of the container.
