

AbstractImproved method for preparing triacetone amine

- 5 The present invention relates to an improved method for preparing triacetone amine. This involves treating the crude product from triacetone amine preparation, which leads to an increase in the content of compounds which react readily with ammonia. This method enables efficient recycling of the by-products formed in the synthesis of triacetone amine.