

Abstract

Valve connector for infusion medical lines comprising an outer tubular body (1), an inner hollow spike (2) and an intermediate sealing member formed by an elastic hollow element (3) including a head (12) with a pre-slit (13) normally closed. The elastic hollow element (3) has a base part (15) substantially generally barrel-shaped and a wall having a differentiated radial thickness (19, 20).

[Figure 4]