

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a cooker including a cooking chamber having an opening, a door for opening and closing the opening, heaters provided in an upper portion and a lower portion of the cooking chamber, a superheated steam generator that 5 supplies superheated steam into the cooking chamber, and a water spraying section that sprays water into the cooking chamber. A reducing state is established in the cooking chamber.