

PHARMACEUTICAL COMPOSITION FOR TREATING WOUNDS

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a pharmaceutical composition for treating wounds, containing a silk protein and a plasma component as active ingredients. According to the present invention, wounds can be more effectively healed by using synergistic effects of a silk protein and a plasma component.

FIG. 1