

TEXTURED FOOD PRODUCT MADE FROM MICROALGAEABSTRACT

5 The subject matter of the invention relates to the production of a novel food product made from at least one microalgae. It can be used as an intermediate for manufacturing a more complex product intended either for human food or for veterinary food. The invention also relates to the uses of said food product made from at least one microalgae. The invention also relates to a method for producing said food product made from at least one microalgae.

(no figure)