This Sheet Has Been Replaced

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A digital contents distribution system including a client, a digital contents server, a roaming server, and a network connected between these terminals. The roaming server includes a receiving section for receiving from the digital contents server a digital content with an intellectual property right protection system protecting the digital content, and a section for converting the intellectual property right protection system of the received digital content into another kind of intellectual property right protection system, and a section for delivering the converted system to the client.