

ABSTRACT

A sputtering target capable of maintaining high coercive force in the magnetic layer of a magnetic recording medium and improving magnetic separation between magnetic particles is provided. A sputtering target includes Co and Pt as metal components and NbO₂ as a metal oxide component. Or alternatively, a sputtering target includes Co and Pt as metal components, and includes a phase containing Co, Nb, and O.