ABSTRACT

This invention is concerning an etchant composition used to etch a silicon-containing film formed on a target substrate. The etchant composition includes at least one selected from the group consisting of an organic compound containing a hydroxyl group, an organic compound containing a carbonyl group, an inorganic acid and inorganic salt, hydrofluoric acid, ammonium fluoride and an organic acid.