Method of processing genomic information

Abstract:

The present invention relates to a method for processing and/or providing genomic, proteomic, biochemical, and/or metabolic information collected from at least one subject wherein the processing and/or providing of the information is under the control of the subject. There is also provided an apparatus and a system for processing and/or providing of genomic, proteomic, biochemical, and/or metabolic information.

Figure 3

162162

G00002