ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A furnace comprising a container and a moveable stage. The container defining a monolithic internal volume configured to maintain a single vacuum level throughout the monolithic internal volume. The stage moveable between a first position arranged to support an assembly within a first zone of the monolithic internal volume and a second position arranged to support an assembly within a second zone of the monolithic internal volume.

[FIG. 1]