ABSTRACT

A method of cleaning a substrate for a blank mask including: a first cleaning including irradiating a cleaning target substrate with a pre-treatment light to prepare a substrate cleaned with light, and a second cleaning including applying a first cleaning solution and a post-treatment light to the substrate cleaned with light to prepare the substrate for the blank mask, is disclosed.

No Figure