

ABSTRACT

FLUX AND SOLDER MATERIAL

It is an object of the present invention to provide flux and a solder material of which the activity hardly decreases even at a high temperature and which can also suppress the occurrence of migration.

Flux containing an isocyanuric acid derivative containing two or more carboxyl groups and the like are provided.