

ABSTRACT

A substrate processing system capable of reliably setting parameters without 5 causing setting errors is disclosed. The substrate processing system comprises a communication network connected between a plurality of control devices and configured to transmit and receive parameters related to operating conditions of a device between the control devices.

10 FIG. 1