

detecting whether the authorization operation information having the success authorization flag has expired; determining that the authorization object identifier does not have the corresponding valid-state authorization time if the authorization operation information having the success

5 authorization flag has expired; and determining that the authorization object identifier has the valid-state authorization time if the authorization operation information having the success authorization flag has not expired.