

AbstractCookware lid with border

The invention relates to a cookware lid, wherein a basic lid body and a surrounding border are connected to each other by a sealing compound. Thereby, the basic lid body can be mechanically stably and watertightly connected to the border. Moreover, a high degree of flexibility as concerns the selection of material and the design of the border is achieved.

Figure 1