

ABSTRACT

A method of erasing a cloud host in a cloud-computing environment includes: receiving a cloud host secure erasing request; generating an erase instruction according to the request; and sending the erase instruction to a secure erasing server, such that the secure erasing server calls a secure erasing daemon process on the corresponding host machine according to the erase instruction, and erases the cloud host to be erased on the host machine via the secure erasing daemon process.