Abstract

DIGITAL CONTENT CARD

A Digital Content Card (DCC) is disclosed wherein the card contains a digital content for mobile phone users, which is marketed for public using various types of card and has a specific code as an identification of the type of offered content. Such cards contain various types of content with a content delivery system/method to mobile phone with different manners, which is in accordance with the type of content.