

SPACE AIRCRAFTABSTRACT

According to the invention, said space aircraft comprises, at the front of each of the air inlets (5) of the turbo engines (4), a mobile flap (6) that can move, in both directions, between a first position for which said flap opens said air inlet (5) and a second position for which said flap prevents air from entering said air inlet (5).

[Figure 2]