

ABSTRACT

The present invention aims to provide a beverage with an enhanced alcoholic sensation and a method of enhancing an alcoholic sensation of a beverage. The present invention relates to, for example, a beverage containing one or more C8-C18 fatty acids at a total concentration of 100 ppb or more and one or more C12-C18 fatty acid ethyl esters at a total concentration of 100 ppb or more, wherein a concentration of a fatty acid with a highest content among the fatty acids is less than 500 ppb.