METHOD AND COMPOSITION FOR TREATING ALLERGIC DISEASES

Abstract

A method and composition for treating allergic diseases and/or airway inflammation including pollinosis, bronchial asthma, allergic rhinitis, atopic dermatitis and anaphylactic shock with the administration to a subject an amount of an anti-infectious agent such as ribavirin and optionally combined with an anti-inflammatory agent selected from inhaled steroids, leukotriene receptor antagonists and beta-2 receptor agonist.

Figure 1