10

~~11~~

NOZZLE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a nozzle which can introduce gas into containers placed at a predetermined interval. The nozzle introduces the gas into the container without contacting the container, and includes the main opening where the gas at a first flow rate is discharged and the sub-opening where the gas at the second flow rate is discharged in a same direction as the direction of the gas discharged from the main opening.

Fig. 1