

DATA SEARCH METHOD AND DATA SEARCH SYSTEM THEREOFABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present disclosure relates to a data search method and a data search system thereof. The data search method includes steps of: receiving a first learning content data, wherein the first learning content data includes multiple first learning sections; analysing the first learning content data by a may of Natural Language Processing to search multiple first keyword strings corresponding to each of the first learning content data; receiving a search message; analysing the search message by the may of Natural Language Processing to generate a search string; comparing the search string with the first keyword strings; and generating a search list according to the first learning section, which corresponding to the first keyword string that matches the search string.

FIG. 1B