ABSTRACT

The present invention addresses the problem of providing a method for producing cell aggregates using suspension culture, wherein it is easy to control the size of the cell aggregates so as to be appropriate for culturing, and the likelihood of damaging the cells is low. The present invention pertains to a method for producing cell aggregates, the method comprising the step of culturing cells while suspended in a liquid culture medium containing a lysophospholipid.