

ABSTRACT

PROVIDING POWER AVAILABILITY INFORMATION TO MEMORY

The present disclosure includes apparatuses and methods for providing power availability information to memory. A number of embodiments include a memory and a controller. The controller is configured to provide power and power availability information to the memory, and the memory is configured to determine whether to adjust its operation based, at least in part, on the power availability information.

FIGURE 1