Abstract

An information processing method, performed by a first-type UE, and includes: determining that the first-type UE works in a first operating mode, in which a maximum bandwidth supported by the first operating mode is less than or equal to a maximum bandwidth supported by a second operating mode.

FIG. 3