

ANIMAL CELL PROLIFERATION PROMOTER

Abstract

An object of the present invention is to provide a material that can promote the proliferation of animal cells when added to a serum-reduced culture medium. The present inventors discovered that a plant protein material having a specific molecular weight distribution and nitrogen solubility index (NSI) promotes the proliferation of animal cells by addition at a low concentration.

[No suitable accompanying figure]